POST OF BATTLE CREEK

Luncheon At Oliver-Trolley Trip To
St. Joe—Officers Elected—
Next Year We Go
To Gary.

One of the most delightful outings ever enjoyed by any association was had by the Northern Indiana Editorial Association on Thursday and Friday at Mishawaka. Headquarters were made at the Mishawaka, one of the best, most restful and altogether delightful hotels in the state. From here the party were taken on trips to Notre Dame, up the St. Joe river to Hen Island dam, on a trolley to St. Joe Mich. and on factory sight seeing trips about Mishawaka. The Business Men's Club of Mishawaka is a "bunch of live ones" if there ever was one, and there was nothing left undone for the complete enjoyment of the editors and editors. The banquet on Thursday night was an elaborate affair and was followed by toasts from prominent people. Among them was a paper read by C. W. Post of Battle Creek, noted as the Postum Cereal and Grapefruit manufacturer. Being an energetic opponent of Labor Unions, Mr. Post took occasion to make some forcible remarks on the Rights of Property. The strongest part of his talk was his recommendation that the Government issue frequent reports on the average price of labor in each state so that both laborer and employer could know what the prevailing price was, just as now reports on crop conditions and other matters are given. Ralph Gaylor, formerly secretary to Congressman Briek, made a fine contribution. On Friday morning the following officers were elected for next year: S. E. Boys of the Plymouth Republican, president; F. B. Leighty, of the St. Joe Indiana News first vice president; G. A. Maurer, of the Mishawaka branch South Bend Tribune, second vice president; J. A. Benne of the Goshen Democrat secretary; Gordon N. Murray, of the Nappanee News, treasurer. The executive committee for the year 1911-1912 were appointed as follows: H. G. Schneider, Gary; Homer E. Carr, Gary; A. J. Bowser, Chesterton; S. E. Boys and J. A. Benne by virtue of their offices are also members of the committee.

A. D. Moffett the retiring president is vice president of the National Press association and it is thought will soon be elevated to the presidency.

Pass Resolutions of Thanks
Resolutions of appreciation to the citizens of Mishawaka for their cordial welcome and entertainment were adopted. Resolutions of thanks to Mayor J. A. Herzog, the Business Men's association, the Winona and Northern Indiana lines, the South Bend newspapers, the South Bend chamber of Commerce and in fact every one who contributed to the success of the meeting were unanimously adopted.

The association endorsed the good roads movement the candidacy of A. D. Moffett for the presidency of the National association the passage of the amendment of the Hepburn act which will allow the exchange of advertising for transportation, and closer relations between the newspapers and plate service companies. Gary was chosen as the place for the next convention of the Northern Indiana association and Chicago was preferred as the place for the next meeting of the National convention.

GRAVES HAS BAD ACCIDENT

Leg Caught in Buggy and Bruised
While He Was Trying to Jump Out

On Monday, August 7, Mr. J. D. Graves met with a bad accident just north of New Carlisle, while driving with a liveryman and horse and buggy. In passing an auto the horse jumped and turned to run back. Mr. Graves started to jump out. The dashboard gave way under his hand and he fell with his right leg between the wheel and buggy. The frightened horse gave another jump and the spring of the buggy and the axle caught Mr. Graves' leg as in a pair of shears, tearing the flesh half way up to the knee. The driver and the men in the auto stopped the horse and turned the buggy so as to release Mr. Graves. He was taken in the auto to New Carlisle, where medical attention was received. He came home on the evening train and was attended by Dr. Aspinall at his room at the Ross House, where he is still confined to his bed. It may be two weeks before he will be able to get out again.

LORADO TAFT DESIGNS SHAFT TO BLACK HAWK

NOTED SCULPTOR WRITES TO
HON. DANIEL McDONALD
ABOUT MENOMINEE
MONUMENT

REMEMBER INDIANS

Wrongs Done Cannot be Remedied
But Memory Can be Perpetuated by Statues,
Says Taft

Recently Lorado Taft, of Chicago, probably the most distinguished sculptor, artist and designer in this country, designed and executed a statue to the memory of the celebrated Indian Chief Black Hawk, and the same was unveiled and dedicated with impressive ceremonies at Eagle's Nest Camp, the summer colony of Chicago artists and writers, near Oregon, Illinois. The statue is forty seven feet high, and the figure of Black Hawk is represented in a blanket, reluctantly leaving the valley which served his tribe as council grounds long before the white man came to the continent. Daniel McDonald, author of the law providing for the erection of a monument, by authority of the State of Indiana, and which was completed and dedicated to the memory of Chief Menominee and his band of 939 Pottawattomie Indians at Twin Lakes station on the Vandalia railroad near Plymouth, September 2, 1909, wrote a letter to Mr. Taft congratulating him on the splendid work he had accomplished, enclosing a photograph and brief description of the monument, to which Mr. Taft later replied as follows:
Chicago, Ill., July 13, 1911.
Mr. Daniel McDonald,
Plymouth, Ind.

Dear Sir: I have your interesting letter and photograph for which I thank you. I appreciate the motive which prompted your work and congratulate you on its successful outcome. It is too late to do justice to the Indians whom we have wronged, but we can at least do justice to their memory. I am
Cordially yours,
Lorado Taft.

C. L. Lonz, formerly of this country, but now of Saskatchewan, Canada, writes that in boring for water near his place the diggers found gas. The well shoots up about 12 feet and roars so that it may be heard a mile or more. This will make a great stir around Estevan.

LIGHTNING KILLS CHILDREN

Boys Meet Instant Death and Girl Expires Hours Later.

Winamac, Ind., Aug. 15.—During the most severe electrical storm that has visited this vicinity in ten years lightning struck a barn belonging to John Smith, two miles west of here instantly killing his sons, August, eighteen years old, and William, fourteen years old, and stunning his daughter, Martha, ten years old, so badly that she died after hours of suffering.

The children went to the barn to sleep on account of the intense heat. The parents did not know of the accident until they went to call the children for breakfast and heard the daughter groaning. Investigating they found both boys had been dead some hours, while the daughter, unconscious, lay near them. They removed her to the house, but she never regained consciousness. The barn did not burn and only a small hole in the roof indicated where the bolt struck. The parents are prostrated.

RURAL MAIL CARRIERS MEET

Favor Better Roads and Wage Scale Based on Service.

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 15.—Seventy-five rural mail carriers of the First Congressional district met here, re-elected the old officers with George Heuring of Petersburg as president and decided to ask the state convention to meet in Evansville next year. The convention this year will be held at Greensburg on Labor day. Resolutions favoring better road laws in Indiana and asking the government to put rural carriers on a scale of wages graduated by length of service, with the privilege of transfer to coordinate branches of the postal service, were adopted.

NEW PLANT FOR GARY

Company Wondering Where It Can Obtain 500 Working Girls

Gary, Ind., Aug. 15.—Six weeks from now the Gary Bolt and Screw company expects to place its plant in operation. One thousand hands are to be employed, of whom 500 will be women and girls. Just now the company is figuring where it will get its female help. About one-fifth of the population of Gary is of the gentler sex and it is feared that if the 500 girls and women are brought from other cities that they will soon leave the company's service to enter matrimony.

SMALLPOX CAUSES PANIC

Prisoner in Bloomington Jail Tells Sheriff His Wife Is Quarantined

Bloomington, Ind., Aug. 15.—There was consternation among the twenty-two prisoners in the county jail here when Ferd Staggs, a Monon trainman who had been incarcerated for fighting informed the sheriff that his wife was quarantined at her home with smallpox, and that he had been nursing her. She is James Browning immediately called in a force of doctors and had the twenty men vaccinated as all had been exposed by association with Staggs in the big cage of the jail.
